

Clients signing up for a membership not redirected to I...

Author:
Nanacast

Created On: 31 Mar 2010 07:08 PM

This is entirely a PayPal issue. PayPal is the one you should be contacting because they are delaying the sending of their IPN. This is NOT a Nanacast issue.Â

You should take this up with PayPal support and find out why their system is delaying sending the IPN.Â

I explain the entire issue, what it is, how it works, and why it happens and what you can do about it here:Â

<http://nanacast.com/docs/paypal>Â

While I do suggest you hound PayPal about it and demand that they fix their IPN I doubt you will get anywhere with them. They have bad support when it comes to their systematic weaknesses because they are such a huge company. This has been an issue for years. Just do a good search on Google for "PayPal IPN delay" and you will see.

Additional keywords: pending status, redirect, delayed IPN

Â