Nanacast API: Using u_username vs. u_email

Author:

Nanacast

Created On: 24 Mar 2010 02:58 PM

u_username is for cases where you want to allow people to create their own username, instead of having their email address be the username, which is the default. Also, u_username has a built-in feature where there system will automatically check for and prevent duplicates. u_email can prevent duplicates as well, but that is off by default. You need to checkmark to enable it under Custom Fields/Notifications > Edit Email.

Keywords: API, username, user email